SEND "MAKINS" FOR KIT BAGS ABROAD

A large shipment to France of the "makings" for thousands of Red Cross comfort kits has just been authorized by the central committee of the American Red Cross—$258,655 worth of safety razors, razor blades, shaving soap, tooth brushes, tooth paste, toilet soap, trench mirrors, pocket knives, pencils, cigarette lighters, sewing materials, and similar articles.
Bags decorated with a Red Cross many made of fancy cretonne, and filled from the above listed articles are being supplied the returning American soldiers at ports of embarkation in France.
The Red Cross commission to France months ago requested the monthly shipment of 250,000 empty comfort bags with an equal proportion of contents, and thousands have already been sent abroad. These comfort kits, originally filled by the women in Red Cross chapter rooms to soften the hardship of trench life, are shipped unopened to save cargo space and that the contents may better meet the special needs of the men.

FLU DEATHS AMONG VETS CAUSE DEFICIT

The scourge of influenza resulted in the death of thousands of aged Confederate and Union veterans last winter, the result being that the War Department has filed with Congress a supplemental estimate asking for $50,000 for headstones for graves of soldiers.
"owing to the large increase of deaths from influenza," says a letter accompanying the estimate, "and the increased cost of headstones and freight thereon, the sum of $50,000 provided in the sundry civil appropriation act for the fiscal year 1919 was sufficient for furnishing only 7,200 headstones during the fiscal year, and from the number of unfilled applications on hand and the estimated number which will be received during the year provision should be made for furnishing approximately 15,000 headstones during the fiscal year 1920."

King Albert a Regular Democrat, Says President In Royal Dinner Speech

BRUSSELS, June 21.—At the dinner given in honor of President and Mrs. Wilson by the King and Queen of Belgium, with Cardinal Mercier and other distinguished guests present, the President, addressing King Albert, spoke as follows:
"Let me express, sir, the very deep appreciation with which I have heard your remarks. You truly say that I have come to Belgium to express my own deep personal interests and sympathies—sympathy with her sufferings and interests in her prosperity; but I would have no personal consequences if it were not my privilege for the time being to represent the people of the United States."
U. S. Sympathy Deep.
"What gives me confidence in expressing this sympathy and this interest is that I know in expressing these sentiments that I am expressing the feelings of the people of the United States. There has never been in the United States a more general and universal comprehension of sympathy with the affairs of another nation than in which the people of the United States have had for the affairs and the people of Belgium."
"I have had the very great advantage of seeing the little that I have had time to see of the experience of Belgium under your guidance, and I know how true it is, sir, that you speak for people. One of the delightful experiences of these last days has been to hear the acclaim from the heart which everywhere greeted the king. Their first cry was for their king, their second thought was the welcome of the stranger, and I was glad in my heart that it should be so, because I know that I was with a real statesman and a real ruler. No man has any power, sir, except that which is given him by the things and people he represents."

Prate for Belgian Spirit.
"I have felt many points of sympathy between the people whom I have the pleasure of representing and the people whom you represent. They are a very democratic people, and it has been very delightful to find, sir, that you are a true democrat. All real masters of the sentiment of being among a people that I understand that I have found myself under your guidance, sir, touching shoulders with the people of Belgium today. When I went to the great destroyed plant of the Charleroi, though most of the chimneys were smokeless, the whole region seemed like so many regions I am familiar with in my own country, and if the air had only been full of smoke I should have felt entirely at home. The air was too clear to be natural in such a region, and yet I had the feeling that smoke was going to come in its old abundance from those chimneys and the world of industry was more going to feel the pulse or Belgium, that vital pulse which no discouragement can restrain."
"So it is with a heart full of genuine sympathy, of comradeship and of friendship that I beg to drink to your health, sir, and the queen's, and to the long and abounding prosperity of the kingdom over which you preside."

Newsies, The Times Will Be Your Host at Movies Of Wild Jungle Beasts

Gather around, newsboys and carriers who serve The Washington Times. Here is an earful of glad news for you:
The wonderful animal pictures which Paul J. Rainey took when he was hunting lions in Africa and which attracted thousands to Poli's Theater last week, will be held over for a week, it was announced today by Charles Hart, who is director of the exhibition of the films in the United States.
Here's where your interest is invited. Through an arrangement which The Times has made with Mr. Rainey and Mr. Hart, you will be permitted to view the pictures absolutely free of charge at 10 o'clock next Monday morning. A special exhibit will be put on for all newsies and carriers who serve The Times in Washington.
Get Your Passes, Boys.
Your pass will be issued by the manager of the circulation department of The Times. All you have to do is to be on hand early Monday morning, and the chance of a lifetime to see real moving pictures of wild animals in action is yours.
The Times believes in the educational value of the picture which Mr. Rainey and his associates took in the jungle wilds. They represent the actual conditions under which the animals live. Africa still abounds in the creatures that have been made famous by story books and the circus.
"By far the most dangerous animal of Africa is the wild buffalo, in the opinion of Mr. Rainey, and he is fully qualified to know. Suspicious, wary, fleet of foot, fearless, and ill-tempered this animal is the gangster of the jungle. He parts his horns neatly in the middle, but his mild expression is a delusion and a snare. This is only one of the many animals shown in his native haunts in the Rainey collection.

On the shores of Lake Naivasha, the Rainey party was fortunate enough to find the flamingoes—water fowls—busy with their evening meal. No artist could paint or brush equal the beauty of such a scene.
The climax to the pictures of jungle life which Mr. Rainey so accurately portrays is the scene of a lion hunt. With the camera stationed at a short distance away, the photographer has recorded on film the scenes attending a lion capture or killing.

CITY CLUB IDEA SPREADS OVER U. S.

A nation-wide movement for the establishment of city clubs in all of the large municipalities as the incarnation of the spirit of the new era resulting from the war will result from the success in the formation of the Washington City Club, in the opinion of leaders of the project here.
Two cities already have signified their intention of establishing clubs patterned after the Washington organization, and word is reaching the club daily of prominent persons in many parts of the country who have heard of the success of the movement here and who have become enthusiastic over the project.

Bristol Plans Club.
The club today sent detailed information concerning the movement to the Bristol (Tenn.) Chamber of Commerce, which heard of the organization of the club here and wrote for facts the would guide the people of Bristol in forming a similar club. Prominent New York financiers have become interested in the club here, and non-resident memberships, and have expressed their desire to start a similar club in New York.
"The success of the city club movement in Washington is destined to start a nation-wide movement for the formation of similar clubs," today declared Charles P. Nesbit, former Commissioner of Insurance for the District and one of the leaders of the club. "A few of the large cities like Boston, Chicago, and St. Louis, have had city clubs for years, but those cities were a little ahead of their time."

"Never has there been a more auspicious occasion for the launching of the city club movement, for the movement typifies a new era, a new social order. Few people realize fully the significance of the city club movement. It is more than merely the forming of a new club. It is the forming of a club on entirely new lines, a club which recognizes the social and class lines and recognizes the brotherhood of man, universal democracy, and equality."
Only Qualifications.
"The only qualifications for membership are high character and good community standing. Wealth, business, profession, politics, religious belief, race, and color count for nothing. And the initiation fee and dues are so reasonable that the man of average means can join."
Plans are progressing for the big meeting of members of the club to be held next Wednesday night at Rauscher's. About 2,000 persons are expected to attend.
While the committee is searching the downtown section for a location within two blocks of Thirteenth and G streets northwest, for the proposed $1,000,000 club house, applications for membership continue to pour into the club. Less than 400 new members will be admitted.

The Gaithersburg branch of the Red Cross is arranging to give a welcome-home reception and dance the evening of June 26 to the officers and men of Company K and to those of Gaithersburg and vicinity who served in the army or navy during the recent war. It will be held in the high school building at Gaithersburg. Miss Louise E. Myers, chairman of the branch, is in charge of the arrangements.

Persons in all walks of life are responding to the appeal for contributions. The finance committee is composed of William P. Prettyman, chairman; John A. Garrett, vice chairman; Frank R. Severance, treasurer; Judge Edward C. Peter, Dr. Eugene Jones, Thomas Dawson, W. Russell Brewer, and Fred L. Thomas.
